MONTGOMERY BESTS AUBURN.

Drake Field, March 23.—In the first game of the local season the Montgomery Southern League aggregation defeated the Auburn lads 4 to 1. The local bunch had it on the visitors in the willow wielding, but the heavens for Capital kept these well scattered and nothing serious resulted.

The Auburn lads showed up well under fire and staged some good baseball. The hitting side of the team was some good stuff in the eye of the fans and points toward a good season with the pole work. Harris coupled twice with the hide and Moulton, Prendergast, McNeill and Bonner got a single apiece from the Montgomery mounders.

Davis heaved a fairly good ball for awhile, but began donating bases in the second and soon was relieved by Savage. This lengthy chunker held the visitors to one hit.

Buscher and Pratt, the two heavies of the Capital crew, at times showed up well, and in keeping Auburn's hits scattered did good. Daly, McDowell and H. Baker were the hit getters for the visitors.

The Scoring.

In the second the visitors, aided by Davis' wildness, started the fire works. Lively, first up, got on by a walk. H. Baker put a hot one between short and third. Shower sacrificed to Davis. Kleinow got a pass to first. Lively came up next with the ambition of cleaning up in great style, but to keep down the fuss, he received four balls and Lively, with long struts, crossed the pan. Davis got back his whip and retired Buscher by the S. O. method. Daly, next up, placed the pill in left garden and Baker and Kleinow tallied up. In the fourth, Prendergast led off with a single over short and took on McNeill's sacrifice. Bonner was retired with three strikes. Louiselle sacrifices and Prendergast crosses the plate. Savage is retired.

AUBURN TAKES THE FIRST FROM TECH.

Grant Field, March 27.—The Auburn outfit captured meat from the Heishman crew in their first S. I. A. A. game, although the field was made slow by rain, the local lads acquitted themselves with honor and shoved across a victory of 8 to 5.

The Orange and Blue lads proved themselves some baseball aggregation and good handlers of the willow. With nine clean hits on the slate, the necessary runs brought home the bacon. Wynne proved himself the club handler of the day. With four times up he nailed himself with two doubles and a single. It was in the third inning he showed pinch hitting ability, when, with the bases drunk, he laid down a two-sacker. Louiselle and Moulton showed up well with the stick work, getting two hits apiece. In this work, Hill was the only man of Tech that could pull the trick twice on Savage.

In fielding, Moulton, at short, was the stellar light for the locals. He proved a regular second story man the way he took hits from the Tech lads. Moulton seems to have hit his stride and great work will be forthcoming from short position.

On the mound, Savage hurled a nice game of ball. The tall lad has a side wheel what gets the pill over with the proper credentials. He will be some box performer before the season is over.

The Tech hurling duet was tapped rather lively at times, but both had some shove behind their wings.

The Main Scoring.

The locals got the first blood. Wynne got one into left garden too many for Pound. The pill was heaved home, but Witherington dropped the horse hide and Jack crossed the pan. Tech. caught the fever and in their half Burr got safe on Louiselle's misplay. Witherington got two bags on a drive to the center of the lot. Hill then lifted the sphere to the middle of the garden and both men scored. Auburn shoved three more across in the third. Wooten failed to handle Moulton's sky-sweeper. Jordan gave Harris and McNeill tickets to first. With these three on, Wynne lifted a screamer over Wooten's dome. In the fifth, Hill banged to right, Donaldson got himself an infield hit. Then Johnson poled one to left garden and Hill scored. In the seventh, Prendergast walked, swiped second and, with Bonner and Louiselle slamming out two doubles, Prendergast and Louiselle crossed home. Tech. bagged two in their half by Malone walking. Fielder, running for him, got around on Johnson's out and came in on Montague's three times to left garden. Montague then tallied on a pass ball.

COLUMBUS SALLY LEAGUERS BEAT SCRUBS

Columbus, March 28.—Newell and the Auburn scrub team journeyed into Georgia's fair city and this afternoon entertained Columbus, Girard, etc., by tying up with Fox and his bunch of South Atlantic men. The game was one-sided from a scoring standpoint, but the Auburn laddets acquitted themselves in fairly good form.

Basore and Wilson did the mound work for the Auburnites and at times were tapped to a degree. Basore, the first heaver in the box was not in his usual form and after 7 hits and 3 base donations, yielded the honors to Wilson, who was robbed of 5 bingles, but retired 3.

The Columbus twirlers gave up but 5 hits and kept them well scattered.

Clements was the lucky man for the visitors, getting two bingles, while Newell slammed out a triple, scoring two men.

The game for the Fox gang was fine practice, and for the Scrubs good experience. But, anyhow, the Auburn lads report a swell time, even if they were beaten. Yet, scrubs are use to work at the hands of varsity.

DOPE AND AVERAGE OF THE TEAM.

(Lovelace.)

Now that the collegiate baseball season is well under way, some line can be had on the possibilities of the individuals of the team as well as the team as a whole. Of course an average at this early date shows very little of the relative abilities of our men but still it shows something of interest.

The team average of .244 is good when it is taken into consideration that of the opposing pitchers two have been Southern Leaguers while another is probably the best southpaw in the Association. Of the total of 22 hits, six have been for extra bases, and practically all have been of the cleant, line-drive variety that win the old ball games. The hitting is going to be good, and right now we feel safe in predicting a successful season in the department of the game that made the "Athletics" famous. McNeill and Louiselle are showing good form and Wynne is clouting them as never before. Harris is a known factor in a pinch and a natural .300 hitter, while Hairston's reappearance in the game will mean additional batting strength. He looks to be quite the best catcher Auburn has had in many years. Arnold is improving rapidly in ability to wield the stick and with Bonner, Prendergast and Graydon we have a well rounded "wrecking crew."

The fielding to date has not been so good, but shows that we have the prospects for a fast fielding team. Moulton is going better than ever, and Arnold is fast learning his position, while Louiselle, on first, has good possibilities. Wynne is showing well at third and has the arm for the difficult corner. Prendergast is capable of filling in on the infield and is making others hustle for a regular outfield berth. Hairston will complete the best infield Auburn has had in years and the catching proposition is well settled with McNeill, Perry and Williams for relief work. The gardeners are all fielding well, but have as yet had little chance to show themselves in real games.

The greatest defect in team work thus shown is in base-running, but we have the speed and ability, and with the additional drill Coach Donahue is giving in this branch, the improvement will be rapid.

In Davis we have one of the leading college pitchers and will be a hard proposition for anyone to face when going good. Although he lost the Tech. game, he pitched fine ball and should have had a shut out. Only one hit was registered in the second round, yet three runs tallied. Though he was hit rather freely in the sixth inning, they came after the side should have been retired and only one hit went out of the infield territory. In no other of the eight innings could he be touched for a safe drive. Savage is a good prospect and will likely deliver the goods. Driver is rapidly getting into form and is capable of pitching good ball. Basore and Wilson are other possibilities and will doubtless get a chance to deliver the goods. All in all, it is a well rounded pitching staff.

This week we have with us the University of Georgia nine and we are due them a good wallop. If Hairston is in shape we will be in a position to give it to them good and proper, but, regardless, we are out for blood and intend to take them all if possible, so let's get some real good spirit.

Come out and yell for the home team and give yells for the individuals just as we did in football; it will help them and do you good. We want to revive the old-time spirit for this is one of the best teams we go up against, but, remember to allow the visitor all courtesy and cheer them when they make a good play—It's the Auburn Spirit.

Following is the batting average to date, including Montgomery:

Name—	AB.	R.	H.	Ave.
McNeill	10	1	4	.400
Moulton	11	3	4	.364
Louiselle	11	2	4	.364
Wynne	9	2	3	.333
Bonner	6	1	2	.333
Prendergast	8	1	2	.250
Harris, F. U.	11	1	2	.182
Arnold	10	2	1	.100
Harris, H.	1	0	0	.000
Driver	4	0	0	.000
Savage	4	0	0	.000
Davis	5	0	0	.000
Total	90	13	22	.244

SOPHOMORES CAPTURE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

March 14.—Tonight the gym was the scene of one of the greatest basketball contests pulled off in sweet Auburn in many moons. The Corporals lads, in behalf of all under class men, drug the '14 numerals in the dust of defeat and caused the proud Seniors to bow to another class as champions of an athletic sport. The final outcome of this reckoning was 42 to 20.

The "Cap Corders," fresh from their trampling over the innocent Freshies, held fond visions of a basketball championship to nail beside their pigskin honors, but soon after the start of this contest these dignified lads saw their prospects slipping, slipping, slid. From the start, the Sophs. played the game to win and the result was a fine exhibit of class basketball. At the end of the first half, they had had their upper class brothers 25 to 6. In the second half, with a new guard in tow, the Seniors rallied and held the Sophs. to a closer count, but this rally stuff came too late. When the finish came, the Sophomore aggregation stood the undisputed champs of the class teams.

For the Sophs., Payne and Duncan put up a great fight at forwards. Payne drug down seven field goals in the first half and was individually responsible for the Seniors' downfall in this half. Duncan got four this half and perhaps would have nailed more but for a "sticking plaster" guard he had against him. Carter, at guard, put up one of the best games ever seen on the gym floor. He was everywhere and covered his man well. Howe also got himself some laurels. Schomburg, at center, was good and deserves much credit for his work. Others of the Sophs. helped things along and nailed up the finishing touches.

For the Seniors, Arnold and Hanson did good work at forwards. Although Arnold rung but one basket, his work was creditable. Hanson proved a foul shooter of merit. Boykin and Newell put up the best guard games and did good work at times. What, with a little over confidence and lack of team work, the Senior team played in tough luck, yet they had fight in them to the finish.

AUBURN, ALA., APRIL 4, 1914

With the subtlety of death himself, and stealing into our hearts and minds with a determining influence, comes our greatest enemy, spring fever. Accompanied by the hum of the bees, the blooming of flowers and the earth warming sunshine, we find him in our midst, having arrived with no unusual amount of commotion, but at the same time making a decided impress upon us all. To us there comes the gradual inclination toward inactivity. We prefer to sleep rather than study, to take life easy rather than work, and to dream rather than think. Our soul revolts when our conscience suggests action, and we are contaminated by that trouble disease, laziness.

To some of us this is the critical stage in our college life. To all of us it is a critical one in this college year. With so much at stake, and with so little time at our disposal, it behooves us to institute a co-operative plan of attack against this common foe, and rout him immediately. We must bear in mind that we are now on the final lap, and that any tendency toward a decrease in pace will sadly handicap us at the finish. In fact, we are almost at the sprint, and since we are, have a good chance to regain some of the advantages we have lost. Let's appeal, each man to his own, individual self, and determine to overcome the lead held by mathematics, physics and so forth, and thereby finish well up in the race, and in good form.

U. D. C. UNVEIL TABLETS

The past and present met for a few brief hours on Saturday when the members of the Admiral Semmes Chapter of the U. D. C. presented the College with two handsome bronze tablets and presented the town of Auburn with three other bronze tablets attached to huge granite boulders. These tablets were in commemoration of events occurring during the war between the states.

The occasion was marked with special exercises in Langdon hall and at the points in town where two of the boulders have been placed. Mrs. B. B. Ross was chairman and hostess of the day and in a most noteworthy manner directed the carrying out of the program.

As chief speaker of the event, Dr. H. M. Hammill, of Fort Worth, Texas, the chaplain general of the United Veterans, brought back to memory the history of many of the events and acts of anti-Bellum and Bellum days of Auburn. In her introduction of the speaker, Mrs. Ross stated that it was due to the suggestions of Dr. Hammill that these places are marked. Dr. Hammill is one of the oldest graduates of Auburn and left the college walls to enter the ranks of the Confederacy, returning after the war and completing his education. He provided the inscriptions of each of the five tablets. In his speech Dr. Hammill suggested that the surviving students and the direct descendants of the students who left the college to join the Confederate ranks and who did not return to complete their college work be presented with honorary diplomas, and in his speech of acceptance of the tablets Dr. Thach, as president of the College, promised his assistance in carrying out this plan.

By way of introduction to the occasion, Mrs. Ross gave a brief history of the U. D. C., its growth and its objects together with what it has accomplished during its short life.

Mrs. L. M. Bashinsky gave a very delightful talk on the life of Jefferson Davis. She recited many instances in connection with his career as soldier and statesman, his life as a man and as the head of the Confederate states. She outlined in a vivid, clear, and distinct manner the character and make-up of the man, his sufferings for his cause and for the people of the South. Her account followed him from a short time previous to the great political disturbances until the end of his life and career. Her entire speech was given in a most pleasing and entertaining manner.

Mrs. R. P. Dexter of Montgomery, as president of the Ladies' Memorial Association, presented a wreath to the memory of the Auburn guards who died on the field of battle. It was accepted on behalf of the college by Dr. H. M. Hammill.

Among the prominent persons presented by Mrs. B. B. Ross were Mrs. Thomas Randolph Leigh, of Montgomery, the state historian of the U. D. C.; Dr. Thomas Owen, of Montgomery, state recorder of the historical records and archives of the state, and Mrs. A. F. McKissick of Greenwood, S. C., the founder and first president of the Auburn Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The band and quartette furnished the music of the occasion. Following the exercises in Langdon hall, which closed with the speech of acceptance, the audience went to the Kappa Sigma lawn, where another tablet and boulder was unveiled, and from there to the railroad, where the other tablet and boulder was unveiled.

The committees who had in charge the work were composed of: Committee on Selection of Tablets, Mrs. A. L. Dillard and Mrs. C. C. Thach; Committee on Inscription, Dr. H. M. Hammill and Mrs. B. B. Ross; Committee on Selection of the Boulders and Having Them Brought to Town, Mrs. C. C. Thach, Mrs. B. B. Ross, Prof. B. B. Ross and Prof. T. Fullan.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY.

The "Footlights," Auburn's recently organized Dramatic club, will make its first public appearance on Friday night, April 17th, in a one-act farce comedy sketch entitled "Ici on Park Francais," or "Here We Speak French." This play, which will be given in English, is a take-off on an English bathing resort and the work of directing it has been in the hands of Prof. Wanamaker.

Places in the cast have been competed for by the members of the club, and the men best suited for each part have been assigned the parts. The work represents a most serious effort to establish a dramatic organization in the college and a liberal patronage is earnestly sought.

COMMENCEMENT

The college authorities announced this week the speakers at the Auburn Commencement, June 7th to 10th. The Commencement sermon will be delivered by Dr. Egbert Watson Smith, of Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Smith is the General Assembly's Secretary of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States—author of the creed of Presbyterians. Dr. Edward Alsworth Ross, Professor of Sociology, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis. Dr. Ross has spent the winter in South America in investigations along sociological lines. He is widely known as an author, sociologist and political economist, and is the author of many books and magazine articles. Rev. Thomas Mangum, Union Springs, Ala., was elected by the Alumni Association last June to deliver the Alumni Address on Tuesday, June 8th. Mr. Mangum is now in Africa with Bishop Lambreth of the Methodist Church, South.

Dean Petrie, Professor of History, announces that Prof. William Edward Dodd, University of Chicago, has accepted the invitation of the Faculty to deliver the Jefferson's Day address on April 13th. Dr. Dodd is known as one of the country's foremost Jeffersonians and is the author of a number of historical works and has contributed historical articles to various reviews and magazines. Auburn's representative at the meeting of the Southern Educational Association, Department of Superintendence, at Richmond, Va., was Dr. George Petrie, Dean of the Academic Faculty.

ALL CLASS BASKETBALL TEAM.

(By Ed. Clements.)

Forwards—1. Arnold. 2. Payne.
Center—Forbes.
Guards—1. Schomburg. 2. Carter.
Sub. Center—Anderson.
Sub. Forward—Thigpen.
Sub. Guard—Duncan.

Some few members of the student body have asked me to pick 'em "all class" basketball team and as it will be of interest, I am willing enough to make a try, but when it comes to picking five men from some forty-five, all have to admit that it is pretty "deep stuff" for a "special in Ag."

At center, we have some pretty good men such as Anderson of the Sophs., Forbes of the Jrs., and Robinson of the Seniors. These are all good men for class ball, good jumpers and good shots, but need experience. Forbes looks the best of the three, as he has had more experience than the other two. He is not as aggressive as a man of his build should be, yet he puts up a good game at center, and in the class games worked the floor well. Anderson is my pick for sub. center. He is an exceptionally good man, is aggressive and a good shot. His only trouble is that he lacks experience. Understanding this is his first year, and what, with training and experience, he should be a second Bob Ware before leaving school.

There is not much question about the forward positions. Arnold, for the Seniors, a natural athlete, is a choice for one forward. A fast man, a fair shot, and works the floor in good style. Payne, for the Sophs., though rather light, is fast, a sure shot and very quick and accurate passer. Thigpen, of the Freshmen, deserves the sub. forward position. He has plenty of speed, is a good shot and works the floor well. With a little experience, he should make an A-No. 1 forward.

While Duncan and Howe, of the Sophs., are both good guards, these positions go to Schomburg and Carter, both of the Sophomores. There is no question that Carter is the best guard in class ball. He passes well, has plenty of weight and sticks to his man close. Schomburg lands the other place on his ability to pass, size up plays and work the floor. The sub. guard position lies between Duncan and Howe. Howe is a close guard, but cannot pass or shoot. As these are Duncan's strong points the sub. guard place is his.

ALL CLASS FOOTBALL TEAM.

(By Coach Donahue.)

The team:

Center—Robinson (Fr.)
R. Guard—Frickie (Soph.)
L. Guard—Campbell (Soph.)
R. Tackle—Sample (Soph.)
L. Tackle—Echols (Jr.)
R. End—Boykin (Sr.)
L. End—Monk (Fr.)
O. Back—Noble (Sr.)
R. H. Back—Kohlass (Jrs.)
L. H. Back—Duprew (Sr.)
F. Back—Dindsey (Sr.)

As the class football games just finished show the kind of material that Auburn must depend on next year to supplant the left over varsity players, a team picked from the most likely players is of interest. The games this year differed from those of previous years in that the winning team was able to win decisively in both championship games. With the exception of the scrubs of last fall, few new players of merit showed up.

Center.

The best player for center is Robinson of the Freshman class, who held the same position on the scrubs last fall. He is an aggressive player, an accurate passer and with increased effort will be first class varsity material. Samford, of the Freshmen, though new at the game, also showed up well.

Guards.

Frickie, a Sophomore, is the best man in sight for right guard. Weighing nearly two hundred, he is a steady, consistent player. On the other side of center, Campbell, of the Sophomores, is placed. He has had considerable experience and has the weight necessary for the position.

Tackles.

Sample stands out above all others at right tackle. He has the weight and aggressiveness, uses his hands well and is a coming Auburn tackle. Echols, of the Juniors, who hails from Virginia, is red-headed and plays up to his hair. He has not the power of Sample, nor his knowledge of the game, but is a vicious tackler. From tackle to tackle, this is a sturdy, aggregation, averaging 175 pounds.

Ends.

Monk, who played tackle on the Freshmen, is placed at end. He is a little light for tackle, but is a shifty player and would do well at end. There are several candidates for the other end position—Major, Witham and Boykin. As Boykin is a good punter and the best drop-kicker in college, the place is given to him. Summer peregrinations in baseball have made him ineligible for college athletics, else he might have had a chance to shine with his toe in football.

Most of the back field is furnished by the Senior class. They have had the scrub back field for the past two seasons practically intact.

Quarter.

Kissie Noble is given the quarterback position, though Stratford of the Freshmen team will be heard from in the future at this position.

Halfbacks.

Duprew is at times a brilliant player at the left halfback position. He carries the ball well, but is weak at interfering. The other halfback position is given to Kohlass of the Juniors, who is very fast and is a good dodger. He is green but promising.

Fullback.

Lindsey has a mortgage on fullback. He is a steady, consistent plunger, but light in weight.
